

INTERFILM – International Short Film Festival Berlin

16 - 21 November 2021

KUKI – Young Short Film Festival Berlin

14 - 28 November 2021

INTERFILM will once again celebrate short film in all its multifaceted abundance in 2021!
And KUKI takes it to the classroom!

Over 300 short films in more than 50 programs, events, workshops and panels. One week dedicated to contemporary short film in Berlin cinemas and four weeks on Sooner.de – In addition, KUKI will expand their week of cinema screenings with their closed-circuit festival programs for kindergartens and schools all over Germany!

Quickly consumed where there is no time for longer films? Not with us! We give short film the big stage, the long evening, the utmost attention. Because short film is more than just a film school exercise. It is a format in its own right: experimental, political and, above all, one that possesses unique ideas that are sometimes too unwieldy for feature-length films.

For a short moment last year it seemed as if our entire festival would fall victim to the lockdown, but thanks to our partner Sooner we were able to shift it into the digital realm. This year we have been planning hybrid from the beginning and are more than proud to have Sooner on board again as a great streaming partner.

As a festival, we have been particularly responsive this year to changing conditions in and outside the film (festival) landscape. The directorship principle has given way to a newly founded program commission, because development and progress - including our own - thrives on change. In addition, we are increasingly opening the curatorial process to external perspectives. Our ongoing objective in future years is to ensure that INTERFILM remains an open space for encounters and a starting point for social and artistic movement.

We proudly present our most political programme ever! The structure is in place, as is the curatorial direction. Our program can be found on interfilm.de, accreditation is now open and we are eagerly looking forward to November! - Next up: Film selection and trailers. Stay tuned!

KUKI, the 14th edition of the Young Short Film Festival Berlin, will take place online in schools and kindergartens all over Germany, and Berliners can also enjoy the festival at local cinemas. KUKI celebrates diversity and creativity in 13 short film programs for ages 4 to 18 that are sure to thrill young and old alike.
